Find community care at Columbus Community Hospital

For Immediate Release

(COLUMBUS, Neb.) – At Columbus Community Hospital, community care is at the heart of everything we do. That’s why we’re proud to deliver compassionate services for every stage of life.

“The national trend for delivering health care is strongly headed toward outpatient care,” said Dr. Mark Howerter, chief medical officer for the hospital. “Obviously, there are times when only inpatient care makes sense. But when people can stay home safely and still receive excellent care, we all win.”

CCH’s home health program brings skilled health services directly to your doorstep. Whether you are recovering from a surgery or injury, or you are managing a chronic condition, our medically directed program offers care tailored to your needs.

Our commitment to you continues with our hospice program, which centers on patients and their families — not just the patient’s ailments. With a focus on maintaining comfort and dignity at home, our interdisciplinary team provides holistic care, including medical, emotional and spiritual support.

At the Wound, Ostomy and Continence (W.O.C.) Health Center, we offer effective treatments to manage wound, ostomy and continence issues. You can regain control and enjoy life to the fullest with our specialized services.

“Columbus Community Hospital has been offering more and more options for outpatient care over the last two decades, and we will continue to do so,” Howerter said. “These programs keep patients at home where they are more comfortable, yet still offer a high level of care and support.”

If you’re looking for comprehensive care, you can visit Humphrey and Lindsay medical clinics. From managing chronic diseases to offering routine immunizations, our dedicated providers at those clinics are there for you at every stage of life.

“The rural health clinics in Humphrey and Lindsey fulfill our philosophy of keeping outpatient health care as close to home as possible,” Howerter said.

At Columbus Community Hospital, community isn't just a word — it's our middle name. Join us and experience compassionate care tailored to your needs, because in our community, your health and well-being are our top priority.
