Columbus Community Hospital to host holiday celebration

For Immediate Release

(COLUMBUS, Neb.) – Kick off your holiday season with “Oh Deer, The Holidays Are Here!” an event hosted by Columbus Community Hospital (CCH).

From pictures with Santa Claus and his reindeer to musical performances from the Columbus High School band and New World Singers, this family-friendly event is sure to make your holidays bright and get you into the Christmas spirit.

The event, which is scheduled for Thursday, December 12 from 4 to 8 p.m. at Ag Park, will feature a pair of real reindeer. Children will have an opportunity to sit with Santa Claus, share their wish lists and get their photos taken by a professional photographer. After the event, parents are welcome to download the free images from Columbus Community Hospital Facebook’s page.

“As a community hospital, it is our mission to improve the health of the communities we serve,” said Michael Hansen, CCH president and CEO. “We also want to be a place that families can visit year-round, and not just when they are sick or recovering from an injury.”

At the event, kids can also see animals from the Horn T Zoo. Each child will receive a free ornament and cookie.

“We want to provide positive, lasting memories for local families,” Hansen said. “We also take pride in providing events that are accessible to the entire community without limitations.”

There is no cost for this event. For more information, visit www.columbushosp.org or follow Columbus Community Hospital on Facebook, Twitter and Instagram.
