Columbus Community Hospital

Julie Haney

HOSPITAL BOARD VICE CHAIR

When Columbus Community Hospital asked Julie Haney to serve on its board, she said it was the easiest decision she had ever made.

“I enjoy doing volunteer work,” she said. “When the board approached me about the position, I thought it was a great way to give back to our community and learn more about the hospital and its impact on the community.”

Haney grew up in Columbus but moved away for a short period before returning here to raise her family. She said as a young child, she always felt safe in Columbus and wanted her family to have the same experience.

With her children now grown, Haney remains active in the community through her career and abundant activities. She serves on several boards and is the president and CEO of Nebraska Energy Federal Credit Union. When she is not working or volunteering, she enjoys exercising, sports, church activities, prayer groups and spending time with her family and friends.

Haney officially joined the hospital board in 2016 and has three years remaining in her term. She currently holds the board’s vice chair position and will serve in that position for the next two years.

She said she loves being part of an energetic and forward-thinking group that works together to provide exemplary care for the community and surrounding areas.

“It isn’t necessary to leave Columbus to find the best health care,” she said. “The hospital has exactly what you’re looking for — the best, most cost-effective and comprehensive health care in the surrounding area!”

Haney is proud of the hospital’s innovation and fiscal responsibility to move forward with instrumental projects that will impact Columbus for many years.

“The hospital is a beacon for our community,” she said. “The leadership team is always looking for ways to improve the health of our community. The collaboration with the Columbus Family YMCA and the fieldhouse project is a prime example of how the hospital is helping to improve the community’s health.”

As she looks toward the future, Haney is excited to watch Columbus Community Hospital continue to grow and expand its services. She is thankful for her time on the board and the opportunity to share her gifts positively.
