FOUNDATION BOARD MEMBER

When Jay Trofholz was asked to join the Columbus Community Hospital Foundation board five years ago, he knew it was an opportunity he could not pass up.

“As a retired optometrist, I dealt with physicians over the years and became aware of the great services they provide to the area,” Trofholz said. “I felt it was a great honor to be asked to serve on such a highly regarded board — I wanted to be involved with that.”

Trofholz has four years remaining in his term on the board. He currently serves as vice president and will begin a stint as president in April 2022.

Trofholz has seen the hospital continue to grow and develop throughout his term because of the foundation’s support. He said he enjoys having the ability to make a difference in his community through the foundation’s efforts.

“It is great being a part of all of the advancements and services that continue to happen over the years,” Trofholz said.

The foundation serves as a primary partner for Columbus Community Hospital, ensuring the hospital has the necessary resources to provide services and state-of-the-art care.

“The foundation raises money for the hospital’s projects, which provide more jobs for the Columbus community,” Trofholz said. “In return, the additional jobs provide more services to the community and surrounding areas.”

With the help of the community, the foundation will continue to support the hospital’s growth for years to come.

“The hospital has made the city grow with the YMCA partnership and new fieldhouse project,” Trofholz said. “In addition, the hospital has expanded services so patients can be treated in Columbus and not have to travel for treatment. The foundation played a key role in making that happen.”
