CCH's Columbus Orthopedic & Sports Medicine Clinic offers comprehensive orthopedic care

For Immediate Release

(COLUMBUS, Neb.) – This spring, Columbus Community Hospital's Columbus Orthopedic & Sports Medicine Clinic can help you get the spring back in your step.

Whether you are suffering from a sports injury or chronic joint pain, our team of surgeons and physician assistants can help. They provide comprehensive orthopedic care that can get you moving again with less discomfort to return to your most enjoyable activities.

The clinic offers a variety of orthopedic treatments and procedures, including orthopedic trauma care, total joint replacement, sports medicine, podiatry, hand and wrist surgeries, and fracture management.

From its comprehensive sports medicine program to its robotic-assisted total joint replacement surgeries, the team works closely with each patient to restore function and mobility as quickly as possible.

"Columbus Orthopedic & Sports Medicine Clinic staff consistently strive to provide the best patient experience and the highest standards of care, comfort and education," said Dustin Hill, MSN, RN, practice manager.

Surgeons use the latest technology and surgical techniques to enhance patient care, and the hospital's Surge Center for joint replacement cares for people both before and after surgery.

The Surge Center, which launched in 2018, is based on a national best practice model for shoulder, hip and knee replacements. The program incorporates advanced, minimally invasive surgical techniques in an environment that maximizes patient recovery through education, a culture of early mobility, family involvement and group interaction.

These services ensure area residents can receive the orthopedic care they need close to home.

"Our clinic and the hospital are dedicated to providing care to Columbus and surrounding communities," said Dustin Volkmer, MD, orthopedic surgeon and medical director. "We also provide outreach clinics at several sites to allow patients access to care within their communities.”

The clinic is located in the hospital’s Healthpark Medical Office Building at 4508 38th St., Suite 133. The clinic’s staff also provides care through satellite offices in Albion, Neligh, Norfolk and York.
